Create your own mini book about you! You could include pictures, drawings and copies of things that are important to you. You could start from when you were just a baby

What can you find out about the year you were born? How can you present this information?

Make your own word search using words you find in a book or with a certain pattern (e.g. un-, dis-, mis-)

Ask your grown-ups to tell you about their favourite book they read as a child. Ask them to tell you what the book is about and the main events in the book. Draw, paint or design a picture of the front cover of their favourite book.

Does listening to music make you feel calm and relaxed? Try lying down and closing your eyes and listening. What kind of music is most relaxing?

You could also invent some animals you might find there and add them!

How many ways can you represent the number?

What can you do with number? (e.g. add to it, double it, subtract from it)

Design and make a board game.

Write a poem about feelings and emotions.

Make up a song and some homemade instruments to accompany it.
